The NC I'm IN: Community Inclusion Advisory Group is seeking proposals for innovative, non-traditional community initiatives that support policies, programs and practices that create community participation, inclusion and integration for people with serious mental illness.

Following are guidelines and priority areas that will inform selection decisions for Pilot Partners.

Guidelines for Becoming a Pilot Partner with I'm IN: Community Inclusion

- Proposals should offer ideas and solutions that address local issues of community segregation and isolation of people with serious mental illness.
- Proposals should demonstrate partnerships that include local coalitions and community champions that support inclusion of people with mental illness.
- Proposals should be designed, guided and assessed by and with people directly impacted by labels of mental illness.
- For any proposals applying to use Mental Health Block Grant (MHBG) funds- the pilot proposal must demonstrate that the work being done directly involves and engages individuals with serious mental illness (SMI) or family members of individuals with SMI. MHBG funds cannot be used if there isn't a clear connection to individuals with SMI directly participating in and benefiting from the proposal. Preference and priority is given to projects that focus on directly and individually engaging individuals with SMI in exploring and engaging in their community.

* Second priority will be given to proposals that demonstrate strong partnerships and leadership from people directly impacted by serious mental illness.

* Additional priority will be given to innovative, creative and non-traditional ways of advancing community participation and inclusion in the areas of policy, practice and programs.
