Re-Imagining Community: Supporting Meaningful Participation of People with Mental Illness (and all of us) Now!

Sponsored by the NC Division of MH/DD/SA, the i2i Center for Integrative Health, and I'm IN: 2020

Please join a FREE webinar series focused on ways to build and maintain meaningful connections with people with mental illness (and the rest of us) during this period of isolation.

The first webinar will be on April 14, 2020 from 2:00 until 3:30. It will be facilitated by Mark Salzer and his team at the Temple University Collaborative on Community Inclusion. It will include:

- perspectives and suggestions from Elliot Palmer, Laurie Coker, and Cherene Caraco who are leaders of consumer and recovery organizations in North Carolina
- examples of innovations from other communities across the country
- a facilitated dialog among webinar participants to identify relevant issues and possible solutions.

Based upon advice and feedback from the initial webinar we will conduct two additional webinars on community participation within the next six weeks.

The 3-part webinar series is FREE but you must register at the following link below to join the April 14th event. If you have questions please email Michael Owen at michael@i2icenter.org.

Target Audience: People with lived experience, I'm IN: 2020 Pilot Partners, CFAC members, advocacy group members, NAMI affiliates, Stepping UP Initiative representatives, System of Care Collaboratives, faith communities, behavioral health provider groups, and others who are interested in learning new ways to connect.
